

Joy of Sound Ever-New Zoom Stories Present
What if we don't sleep for two weeks?

Illustration and graphics by Maria Tashkinova
Colouring by Chris Leeds

Sessions hosted by Anna, Chris and Jenny

Story Co-Writers:

Alev & Hatice

Enolia

Tom Rees

Maria Tashkinova

Anna-marie Franklin

Lulu, Lizzie, Gill & Peter Pavlitski

Emane

Suzie Roach

Gevohn Greenaway

Zozo Kumaramangalam

Chris Leeds

Andre & Tina Molinaro

Gala Mironiuk

All stories produced inclusively by JOS participants, volunteers and friends during Covid-2020 lockdown.

Copyright Joyofsound
www.joyofsound.org

What if we don't sleep for two weeks?

- We would feel very tired,
yawning so loud
we'd wake up sleeping whales.

Our heads would feel floaty. Floaty like a boat. Dizzy like a hurricane.
Spinning like a dreaming vortex.

But why do we have sleepless nights?

Maybe the thought of going to the dentist would keep you awake?

For Suzie, it's the excitement of thinking about the meal she will have with her family on her birthday.

Daria's birthday was a couple of days before Suzie's
- she couldn't sleep either!

Eniola dances and sings along all night to Nollywood films
- Nigerian Bollywood!

Chris used to go and see bands playing at a super old fashioned theatre, with red velvet curtains and gold decorations, but with psychedelic light shows and sparkly glitter balls.

Gevohn was juggling all night with pumpkins! They are very heavy!

Anna couldn't sleep the night we had a Strawberry Supermoon, she could feel its effects in her body, and gazed up at it in wonder.

Zozo stayed up all night
partying at her zoom disco.

Peter and Lulu
were dancing and singing
playing drums
and whirly tubes!

Astronomers like to sleep during the day,
so they can stay up all night
looking through their telescopes.

Sometimes you can't sleep all night until your alarm goes off, then you press the snooze button, but five minutes later... bring bring bringgg again!

Some people wake up peacefully with the sun before the alarm goes off.
There are birds tweeting, which makes waking up quite pleasant.

So what if we didn't sleep for two weeks?

We would get so tired, we would feel like we have electricity tingling and buzzing in our bodies, but no energy to get into our PJs and up to bed.

We'd just lie down, feeling the soft pillow on our faces, so comforting...

...until sleep comes and takes us to the snoring land of dreams.

Now it's time for your own story!

